

* An important check on expenditure in all cases where a project may arise or continue being continued and adapted which, for lack of due attention to the laws of nature, and the character of common sense, are more than likely to prove to the end to be better than ever wild or emotional or utopian projects."